

News for Immediate Release

COLEMAN DATA SOLUTIONS

AKRON, Ohio (January 12, 2009) – Coleman Data Solutions, a full scale document management nonprofit, located in Akron, Ohio, is pleased to announce that their document management software partner, iSynergy, recently received accolades by KMWorld and CMSWire for their software solution. On December 17, 2008, CMSWire deemed it a “trendsetter for 2008.” The iSynergy mission is to "Simplify the Workplace". Specifically, their content management system is built to be the "operational platform for information management." Coleman Data Solutions incorporates this software as part of their document management solution.

According to CMSWire, “Not far from the concept of the infamous Google Search appliance, the iDatix system is a browser-based document search engine that allows users to search for and view documents using keyword and/or index searches. Docs are organized into virtual filing cabinets called Applications and are linked together by index fields that are associated with each document.” Leaving no room for confusion, the program provides complete document versioning and maintains a detailed history and audit trail for all document changes. With the release of iSynergy 3.9, iDatix has raised the bar, allowing users to drive innovation within their business by adding powerful new collaborative, security, and productivity enhancements," said Bob Stuart, CEO of J.D. Young.

January 12, 2009

Page Two of Two

Coleman Data Solutions is a nonprofit enterprise under Coleman Professional Services. Revenue generated directly impacts behavioral health programs in five north east Ohio counties.

For more information on Coleman Data Solutions or the services it offers, visit www.coleman-data.com or call 330-644.8899

###

Contacts: Amy Canzone
Coleman Data Solutions
(216) 218.1141
amy.canzone@coleman-data.com