

For Immediate Release

Contact: Nelson W. Burns (330) 676-6801
Or nelson.burns@colemanprof.com

Triangle Pharmacy Starts Drug Assistance
For Children and Families in Need

Children and Families needing “one time” assistance with mental health medication reimbursement will be helped thanks to owners Andy Drnjevich and Jim Coll of Triangle Pharmacy in Ravenna, Ohio.

The Kevin Coleman Foundation has teamed up with Triangle Pharmacy to start a medication assistance program that will help children, families and older adults who do not have insurance or who are waiting to become eligible for public assistance.

Andy Drnjevich explains, “...People come into the pharmacy needing medication for their mental health problem but do not have any means to pay. This program will help families for a limited time to get the medication while filing for assistance.

The program will work in two ways; first, donations will be collected to use immediately in 2005 and 2006 to help pay for medication; and second, donations will be collected as a permanent endowment where the principle will never be spent but the interest will be applied to each yearly expenditure for medication.

Triangle Pharmacy has graciously donated $5,000 to start this program and the Kevin Coleman Foundation will spend an additional $1,000 to help with medication for immediate use. Portage Community Bank has agreed to help with this program by administering the financial accounts. Rick Coe, President of Portage Community Bank, comments... “The Bank is proud to help the families in our community who have a difficult time paying for needed mental health medication.”

The Kevin Coleman Foundation is a nonprofit Foundation specifically designed to raise money for children and their families needing mental health and rehabilitation services. Charitable donations can be sent to The Kevin Coleman Foundation, 5982 Rhodes Road, Kent, Ohio. 44240, Coleman’s web site at <http://www.kevincolemanfoundation.org>, or at the Triangle Pharmacy Drug Store in downtown Ravenna. Please designate on the check “Triangle Drug Pharmacy Account”.
